

IMAGINE

If you love me
Then know our love is eternal,
That the bond we share together
Will go on forever.

Imagine that I am staying with you
For a while in time
Imagine that it is the end of the day
And I leave you to go into the next room.
Imagine that the room I've entered
Is filled with joy and peace and the love
Of old friends who are delighted to see me;
Of beautiful flowers, of healing warmth,
And magic rainbow colours.

Imagine how happy I will be
In that magnificent room.

One day you will come into my room
And see me more beautiful, and happier
Than you have ever seen me before.
You will feel the same peace and joy
That I am feeling.

If you can imagine this,
Then you will understand
That death is not an ending
But merely a passing from one room to another
In the mansions of time.

Life goes on forever
And love will never end.

Yvonne Goddard